EXPERTISE

As senior vice president and principal in Ackerman & Co.'s San Antonio office, Jeff directs the firm's operations in Texas. In this role, he works with the firm's investment team to source and execute acquisition and development opportunities in San Antonio, Austin and Dallas/Fort Worth. He also is responsible for the development, leasing and disposition of the company's properties, including an Ackerman portfolio of four medical office buildings totaling 423,411 square feet.

Prior to joining Ackerman, Jeff was a vice president of estimating and preconstruction services at Joeris General Contractors, where he led a team of 20 estimators in three offices across Texas and was responsible for leading preconstruction efforts corporately. In addition to his time at Joeris, Jeff has 18 years of experience working in operations and estimating for construction managers in the Texas market.
